Watch out, Oprah!

By Alec G. Belisle

SUTTON - While spending empty hours sitting passively in front of our television sets, haven't there been times when we have wondered what went on behind the scenes to produce the programs we were watching? And haven't we all wished, while watching some mindless program about Boston or Springfield, that something local was on instead? Well, for Sutton residents, answers to both of those questions is clearly possible. In a recent interview, Jim LeClaire, Chairman of the Cable Committee, said that local cable access is available to residents of Sutton who can now begin producing their own programs.

Jim LeClaire

LeClaire explained that the cable carriers are required to provide time for local programming as well as the equipment that is needed to produce it. Jim, who earned his bachelor's degree in media from Worcester State College and who has worked as a media technician for Channel 27, would like to see more people take advantage of the equipment that Sutton presently owns to produce programs which would be of interest to the Sutton community. "People feel that it's too complicated to produce a show," LeClaire said, "but it's not."

Teaching residents to put on their own programs is not new to LeClaire who, while still a student at Worcester State, ran classes in all aspects of television production from using the cameras and sound equipment to writing scripts and producing shows. The classes, which then were 12 weeks long, were a success, and from a pool of residents, Sutton enjoyed a wide variety of programs dealing with Sutton issues and events. All of this was made possible because of an interested group of people who thought it might be fun for them as well as instructive for the town to be able to view events like graduations and special town meetings if not live, then later on tape.

To be able to accomplish this requires some cooperation and team work. "It takes more than one person to tape and put on a program," Jim said. "To tape the band concerts like we did, takes five or six people to set up, run the equipment, and breakdown, and what I'd like to do is train people to run the equipment so they could produce their own shows or help in taping Sutton events. If several people help with a project, it's quicker and easier, and much more fun."

"Fun" is LeClaire's attitude toward television production on the local level. He would like to see residents share their interests with fellow townspeople. "It would be great for someone involved in sports to produce a live sports' show," he said with enthusiasm, "or someone produce a live talk show featuring people from the area, or documentaries on special places or famous people from the area, or a cooking show, or one showing how to make certain crafts," he continued.

LeClaire is preparing to run classes which will give residents the fundamentals necessary to produce and tape their own productions. The 12 week course has been shortened to eight weeks. LeClaire said he will teach all facets of television production. However, if someone is interested in just being a host or wants to say what's on their mind, he will run a one day seminar to teach them how to set up and format the equipment.

With the proliferation of camcorders, "it's possible for someone to record their program on their own personal camcorders at home," LeClaire said, "like a cooking show, then run it on the station. They might need some support equipment which we can provide, but with some formatting instruction, they can go right ahead."

LeClaire would like to see the local airways filled with local and regional programming produced by a variety of residents. He would also like to see more by way of town production that could be done easily from a pool of residents who would like to participate in the production as technicians. The more people who learn to run the equipment, the broader the range of programming that can be produced in Sutton and the easier it would be to produce. "I'm looking to get people to produce more generic shows that will appeal to everybody," he said.

LeClaire is pleased with the equipment which the town presently owns but would like for the cable company to provide newer and more sophisticated equipment. He sees a problem in requesting new or updated equipment if the equipment that the town presently owns is not used. "If people aren't using the equipment that they provided, they'll ask, 'Why buy new equipment when you're not using the old.'"

"We would like to involve as many people as possible," LeClaire said. "The job can be as simple as setting up a camera or writing script, or doing something as complicated as a major production. We have the equipment to do all of this."

The only requirement for using the equipment is that users take the course and be 18 years old to sign out the equipment. LeClaire would like to see all ages involved and feels this would be a great hobby for the retired who want to try something entirely different.

Anyone interested in finding out more about these classes or how to schedule air time can call Jim LeClaire at 865-6763.

So, come on Sutton! Julia Child is starting to look a little peaked on the reruns and Phil Donahue has nearly run out of topics related to sex. Somewhere out there on Boston Road, Mendon Road, Eight Lots Road, or elsewhere, there could be budding TV personalities. Watch out, Oprah!

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Board approves public access to Dorothy Pond at Lakeview Street

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The Selectmen followed their summer schedule and held a meeting June 30.

Administrative Assistant Earl Chase reported that the Town would benefit from the Worcester County Retirement system to the tune of $374,000 over a 5 year period at a rate of $48,000 the first year.

McCracken Road Bridge

A "Bailey Bridge" will be installed some time in the near future, possibly within a month, over the McCracken Road bridge which will allow Granger Lynch to instruct heavy trucks to use that entrance and road to the plant rather than Greenwood street.

A representative from Granger Lynch said it is expected that once work is finished on the Rte 146 bridge over West Main Street, truck traffic can be routed on 146 as the bridge will meet all federal specifications. It's expected that will occur in September. At that time, trucks will no longer need to come through the center of town.

DiBaro Complaint

Building Inspector Rene Morin reported that he made an on-site inspection following a complaint about DiBaro Repairs on Grafton Road that there had been truck repairs done at night on the premises. He said he didn't get to talk with Mr. DiBaro but did receive a letter from him indicating that the repair in question was a one time occurrence that occasionally happens when a loaded truck needs a tire repair. He maintained that the repair only took about twenty minutes. DiBaro also said the only complaints he has received over the past 14 years have been from the same individual, Leo Boliver.

Selectman Bernard Plante said he works with Boliver and said something has to be done about the complaints.

Morin said a copy of DiBaro's class II license is vague and truck repairs are grandfathered in.

Lachance noted the long history of complaints and suggested that Morin also write to DiBaro to ask him to lower the dump truck bodies.

Chase said there is a "big file" on this matter and that town counsel has lost the services of a former attorney who was up to date on the issue.

The Board moved to review and update the file.

Lakeview Street

The Board heard a request from Tom Cristo on the disposition of a town meeting article to leave 150 feet of Lakeview Street as a public way. Selectman Jude Cristo stepped down from the board as the matter involves his family.

Tom Cristo said problems still remain with a portion of the road being taken over as private property at a point in the public way where the road turns to gravel. He said a resident, Bea Trombowicz of 7 Lakeview, has made the road a grass plot and that a 20 foot stone wall has been built in the middle of the road, making it difficult and hazardous for vehicles to turn around. He also said the road can be hazardous to the safety of children and, because the road has been posted "no trespassing" by the Selectmen at that point in the road, people who should have access to Dorothy Pond are denied that access. He said he was told by former Town Planner Dave Hulseberg that he had to take down a fence, which he did. He said he thought it was unfair that the wall across from him in the roadway is still standing. "It's not fair," he said, "to ask one (person to make changes) and not the other who has a golf course right in the road as well."

Anne Kniskern, Chairwoman of the Planning Board, noted that the Planning Board held a public hearing last year at the request of the Selectmen and decided that the public way to any body of water in town should remain public. Kniskern also noted that the matter falls under the jurisdiction of the board of selectmen.

Planning Board member Arthur Moore said that if Cristo had to move his fence, it was only fair that the other person be asked to move the stone wall and dig up the grass area and put it back the way it was. He noted that Trombowicz added the lawn herself which also cut access to the pond. Moore said the last time he was down there, there were no "no trespassing" signs.

The selectmen said the signs were placed there by the Board for reasons of liability.

Moore also explained that the Planning Board at the time didn't know that Hulseberg had told Cristo to move his fence. He said there were other meetings and alternative proposals put forth by Hulseberg to the Selectmen which the planning board was never made aware of. "The town owns the road and it should be made and kept as a public way. If it is a public way," he asked, "then why can't it be used by the public to go to the pond?"

Kniskern concurred with Moore, saying the Planning Board was not aware of the alternatives Hulseberg had offered to the Board of Selectmen until recently.

Kniskern also said there are three big maple trees in the middle of the roadway which she said create a problem of liability if an accident occurs. "They should be cut down by the tree warden," she said.

Lachance moved that the road be opened up and made a public road.

Gauthier added, "all the way to the Pond." He also suggested that Highway Surveyor Joe Chase be consulted to see if the paved section of the street can be widened so traffic can turn around.

The Board voted to make it an open public way and to remove the "no trespassing" signs to allow the public access to Dorothy Pond.

Gauthier suggested that the Chief of Police be notified of their decision.

Cristo said he and another resident are willing to donate a sum of money to help in completing the road work.

No one spoke in opposition to the vote taken by the Board.

Wheelock Ave/Ward Avenue

Joseph Bianculli, of 15 Hilltop Drive, voiced concerns with traffic and safety problems existing at the Wheelock Avenue/Grafton Road intersection and also Ward Street.

Safety Officer Ronald Richards was also present and supported Bianculli on much of what he presented for solutions.

Bianculli asked the Board to consider pursuing the issues of traffic safety and alternatives to the present set-up in conjunction with work currently underway by the state in the Wheelock-Grafton Rd area. "Time is of the essence if changes are to be made to improve the situation in this area," Bianculli said.

He presented written proposals for upgrading and making it safer for drivers along the Millbury stretch of Grafton Road. Among the proposals was a request to install a traffic signal at Ward Avenue that would be synchronized with the Grafton-Wheelock signals. Barring that, Bianculli asked the board to consider relocating a "Do Not Block Intersection" sign to the southerly side of Ward Avenue and replacing it with a sign reading, "Stop Here on Red Signal." He also asked that a stop line stripe be painted on the road to allow for exiting and entering Ward Avenue in a safe manner. "There are 67 families with an average of nearly 2 cars per household, and a day care service that utilizes Ward Avenue," he said.

Bianculli also said, "starting at a point several hundred feet on both sides of the intersection of Grafton Road and Wheelock Avenue, there should be only one lane southerly and two lanes northerly, with the northerly center lane marked "left turn only." He said the main advantage of this proposal would be to prevent reckless drivers from moving out of the southerly traffic lane into the parking lane, which he said is the cause of all the accidents at Ward Avenue and Wheelock Avenue, when northerly drivers are turning left into Wheelock Ave.

The Board accepted Bianculli's proposals for discussion with the State as soon as possible.

Lachance also suggested that a committee, to include Bianculli, the safety officer, and a member of the planning board, be formed to review the suggested changes.

Health Study Committee

The Board met with Alexander G. Belisle, of Grafton Street, to discuss the implementation of a committee to study health issues in the Town of Millbury relative to the emission of electro-magnetic fields from power lines.

The Board voted unanimously to form a Health Study Committee and appointed seven members: Belisle; John Chiras; Robin Jansen Dumais; Joseph Bianculli; Urbano Perea; Peter Bouthillette; Terry Burke Dotson, representing the planning board; and a member of the Board of Health yet to be named.

Belisle gave the board a copy of a letter he sent to Congressman Joseph Early seeking assistance in developing funding for the study, possibly with funds and resources from the National Institute of Health and/or the Department of Energy which has been given the authority over some studies.

Cristo said the Board will meet with the Health Study Committee on July 14th to organize and consider directions for implementing the study.

Paul Revere Village

The Board approved a request from Lachance that members of the Board, in concert with members of the Board of Health, make another site visit to the Paul Revere Village Condominiums to see what is happening with regard to orders from the Board of Health to alleviate some of the problems related to the failed septic systems at the Grafton Street condominiums and the board's request for a reduction of water use and issues relating to drainage cracks in the basement walls.

Lachance said leaflets that were passed out around town and prior to the Town Meeting stated that the DEP would not allow the residents at Paul Revere to upgrade or make any changes relative to the septic problems. He said he knows individuals who have spent up to $3500 to upgrade or replace failing septic systems.

Lachance also said several people have asked him how to vote on an upcoming debt exclusion to provide sewage along Grafton Street. He said he doesn't know what to tell people. He said the figures being given showing an additional charge on homeowners' tax bills of $35.00 per $100,000 of evaluation would create an additional tax to his own property of $100 per year.

Cristo said he didn't have to revisit the condominiums as he is well aware of the problems that exist there and, unless there is more information forthcoming, he could see no reasons for going back. "It's up to each Board member to decide for themselves," Cristo said.

There were no comments from other board members.

Cristo said he has not received any calls or concerns from people on how they should vote. "I would expect they will vote their consciences," he said.

Board of Health Chairman James Dwinell said the Board of Health would meet with any members who wished to meet at the site. He said the information Lachance seeks on whether there has been any reduction in water use by residents at Paul Revere Village can be had by a phone call to the Mass. American Water Company.

Miscellaneous

The memorial in honor of Charles Brewer that is located at Canal and Grafton Streets will be moved from its present location to a larger island at the intersection with the approval of the remaining heir.

Police Chief Richard Handfield asked for authority to seek a transfer of $4,182 from the reserve account for "salaries all others" for vacation time pay. The Board voted 4-0 to allow him to seek approval from the Finance Committee.

A transfer of $3,311.54 to pay for a June bill to Town Counsel for services to end the year was requested as funds in the Town Counsel account ran out two weeks ago. According to Chase, that prompted a transfer request to cover the May billing period.

Chase reported that a pipe at Lake Singletary that was given to the town when they took over the water rights is too big according to the engineer hired by the town. Lachance suggested that the Town seek to trade the over-sized pipe for the pipe recommended by the engineering firm.

Richard Valentino, chairman of the ZBA, reported that the Millbury Housing Partnership will be seeking a change in the number of affordable housing units at Elmwood Heights from 8 to 6 because there has been a problem getting applicants who qualify under the guidelines.

Under appointments, the Board appointed John Donnelly, Dave Matson, Joseph Kosiba Sr. and Phil Day Jr. to the Board of Fire Engineers. A fifth appointment will be made following interviews at the July meeting with three other applicants to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Tom Nault from the Fire Department.

Signatures submitted to place polluter pay initiative on November ballot

BOSTON - Frustrated by the lack of progress on the cleanup of toxic waste sites in Worcester County and across the state, the Massachusetts Campaign to Clean Up Hazardous Waste has obtained signatures from across Worcester County to place a Polluter Pay Initiative on the November ballot. The initiative will place a fifth of a penny per pound "Polluters Tax" on the production and import of toxic chemicals and petroleum products into the Commonwealth (gasoline and home heating oil are exempted.) The revenues from the tax will go to the state's depleted Superfund program which is responsible for the cleanup of the more than 2400 toxic sites across the state.

Of the 25,826 signatures submitted to local registrars for certification, 2279 were from Worcester County and 310 from the City of Worcester. The campaign has recently opened up a field office in Worcester to do public education, fundraising, and to recruit volunteers into the campaign. For more information call (617) 292-4821.

Amorello's bill clears path for Grafton Biotech Park

BOSTON - Senator Matthew J. Amorello (R-Grafton) said the Committee on State Administration has given a favorable recommendation to legislation he has filed to pave the way for development of a biotechnology park on the grounds of the Tufts University School of Veterinary Medicine. The bill must now go before both branches of the Legislature for final approval.

"This legislation would remove the last obstacle that stands in the way of development of the biotech park," Amorello said, noting that construction for the park would bring an estimated $300 million into the region's economy.

Amorello filed legislation to remove legal language that is discouraging biotech companies from siting at the Grafton location. Current law stipulates that the land reverts to the state if it is used for other than veterinary medical purposes. Amorello's bill would remove that language from the agreement, in which the state turned over 300 acres of land at the old Grafton State Hospital to Tufts.

"Biotechnology companies will soon be looking for a new place to set up shop," Amorello said. "When they look into siting at Tufts, we need to be able to tell them that they face no legal obstacles to locating there."

Candidates, please note...

The Millbury-Sutton Chronicle is no longer accepting announcements for candidates in the September primary. In addition, we will not accept any letters to the editor in favor of or in opposition to any candidate in the primary after August 15.

School Committee Member Objects to Transfers

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The School Committee held a meeting on Tuesday, June 30, for the purpose of making end of year transfers from various accounts prior to the deadline of July 15, 1992. A majority of the five member committee was present: Vice Chairman Alan Marble, Barbara Tuttle, and Tom Clawson. Absent were Chairman Chet Hanratty and Jane Pojani. Superintendent Alfred Sylvia also was absent.

Business Manager Sue Pierce made the recommendations for the transfers. Assistant Superintendent Richard Palermo represented the Administration.

The committee voted separately on seven transfer requests, five of which were made into the Instructional Account from various other accounts which had surpluses, for the purpose of buying books and supplies. The other two accounts receiving transfers were Operations and Maintenance and Fixed Assets for a total transferred amount of $57,674. Monies encumbered for expenditures in the fiscal year to be carried over into the next fiscal year will be taken up at a meeting scheduled for July 13th.

Prior to voting on each request, a discussion developed on the rationale of making transfers this late in the year and the possibility of changing the way the budget is developed which, according to Committeewoman Barbara Tuttle, creates a "yearly merry go-round." She suggested that a change be made in how the budget is put together to avoid a situation that appears to have been going on for years. "Why the wait until the end of the year (to make transfers)?" she asked.

Pierce replied that the reason for waiting is to be sure there are no big problems that might arise. She said that only $45,000 was available for supplies when normally there is $200,000. "The reason why we could take a cut in that budget is that there will be monies left over in certain accounts at the end of the year," she said.

Tuttle said a committee member had remarked that the reason for waiting to fund the instructional account is because book prices go up July 1st.

Pierce said that was correct and that Hanratty had made the statement about book prices.

Tuttle then said she called three textbook suppliers to check on that information and was told that has not been the policy of their companies. She said two of the book companies told her that January 1st is the last date for price changes.

"I wonder why we don't budget this money for these supplies and thus eliminate the need for these transfers each year?" Tuttle asked.

Pierce said it was difficult when doing a budget in November to anticipate what you are going to need. She said the committee has made cuts and "based the making of those cuts on the fact that we will have money left over in other accounts. If we didn't make these transfers," she said, "we would then turn these monies back to the Town and the budget starting tomorrow would be a lot larger than it is right now."

Tuttle said what bothered her most was reading that the end of year transfers were normal and necessary in order to spend all the funds available. "I can't understand why we are not turning back something to the Town," she said.

Pierce replied that the transfers were standard procedure.

"Maybe it's time that it stopped!" Tuttle said. "We may have to look at this a little more closely."

"I think you're right if in fact we can have that money reappropriated," Clawson said. "I think what they (administration) are saying is that they have got themselves in a bind over a period of years. Their policy is such that they do it this way. There won't be money in next year's budget, as I understand it, if money is not appropriated in next year's budget for the purchase of texts."

"What can we do not to have this take place so we are not on a merry go round like this every year?" Tuttle asked.

Pierce replied that once the administration and the school committee decide what is needed to run the schools, there can't be any further cuts in instructional supplies. "We wouldn't have the ability to take the large cuts that we do take," she said.

Palermo said that in developing a budget next year, "we have to be pretty firm as to what we need, and that could mean an increase or level funding."

Marble said the problem the committee runs into this year is that if the committee does not approve the transfers, it would devastate the supply account. He suggested that Tuttle's concerns be addressed when planning for next year's budget.

Sylvio Bourdeau, of Leslie Lane, said the supplies budget "is like a roller coaster doing loops, if you look at the differences in the instructional supplies account over a period of years." He said the townspeople look at the end of the year budget and transfers and think the committee is "squirreling" money away in the budgets.

Bourdeau also said that with the $44,000 budget and the transfers, the total for this account ends up at $161,000. "People are not stupid," he said. "They will say you are squirreling money away."

Marble replied, "We get your point!"

Bourdeau then suggested that there will be $200,000 available for supplies next year.

The three board members then voted on each transfer request. Voting in favor were Clawson and Marble. Tuttle voted in opposition to six of the seven requests and abstained on one.

Clawson then said that since the transfers did not pass, no new books would be purchased.

Pierce said some payrolls also would not be processed.

Clawson then suggested that the Committee request a Special Town Meeting to propose funding for next year's budget otherwise the system would be shut down.

Tuttle said she couldn't believe that there is such an insufficient number of supplies in the school system that this would prevent the opening of school next year.

Pierce replied that some of the supplies have already been bought and she has begun processing some of the bills. "If the transfers are not allowed, then some payrolls will not be made and that will have to be taken care of at a special town meeting," she said.

Clawson asked if those supplies already purchased would have to be returned.

Pierce said she thought they would.

Palermo said the books purchased would have to be returned unless cuts could be made somewhere else in the budget.

"You mean we are ordering things and then waiting until June 30th to see whether we can pay for them?" Tuttle asked.

Clawson replied, "I believe the administration had projected that there would be surpluses, that's why they recommended those purchases."

Palermo said the change in procedure Tuttle was suggesting has some merit and that the time to implement her suggestion is when the budget is being developed.

BEACON HILL ROLL CALL

BOSTON - This week's "Beacon Hill Roll Call" records the votes of Senator Matthew Amorello (R-Grafton) on eight roll calls from the week of June 22-26 and three roll calls from the week of June 29-July 3. Also recorded are the votes of Representatives Richard Moore (D-Uxbridge) and Paul Kollios (D-Millbury) on six roll calls from the week of June 29-July 3.

MICHAEL KELLY (S 1636) - Senate 19-17, refused to suspend rules to allow immediate consideration of an order establishing a special committee to investigate the circumstances surrounding the release of accused murderer Michael Kelly from the Dangerous Persons Center at Bridgewater State Hospital. Kelly is accused of committing two murders after his release. Supporters said it is time to examine the outrageous problems of releasing people while they are still a threat to society. Opponents said the Post Audit Committee is already addressing the issue. Amorello voted for rule suspension.

SEXUAL ABUSE (H 2107) - Senate 20-17, rejected an amendment to the house approved bill extending the time period during which a minor victim of sexual abuse can bring a civil suit. The bill extends the current period up to age 21 and permits a suit within three years of the act or resulting emotional problems. The amendment prohibits suits after 30 years following the act. Amendment supporters said any suit beyond 30 years is a stretch and will make a trial difficult and unfair. Opponents said it can easily take more than 30 years to acknowledge such abuse. Amorello voted to allow suits after 30 years.

NEEDLE EXCHANGE (S 1498) - Senate 20-13, refused to discharge onto the Senate floor for action, a bill establishing a local option one year pilot program for the exchange of hypodermic needles and syringes. The program would only be implemented in communities which agree to participate. Bill supporters said this controlled program will provide clean needles for drug users and help stop the spread of the HIV virus. Bill opponents said it is wrong to distribute needles and encourage drug use. Some opponents of discharge said they supported the bill but opposed discharge until the committee chair has had time to study the bill. Amorello voted against discharge.

APPROVE BUDGET (H 5700) - Senate 38-0, gave near final approval to its own version of a $14.4 billion fiscal 1993 state budget. This version is estimated to cost hundreds of millions of dollars less than the House approved one. Supporters said this package is a balanced and fiscally responsible one which eliminates the red ink in the House version and continues fiscal stability. Amorello voted for the budget.

VIDEO POKER (H 5700) - Senate 22-13, approved an amendment establishing a commission to institute video lottery games in the state. Amendment supporters said this would raise millions in revenues by allowing video poker and blackjack type machines in Massachusetts. Opponents said the games are unnecessary and will lead to more gambling while making the state the Las Vegas of the East. Amorello voted against the video games.

CLOTHING (H 5700) - Senate 28-10, rejected an amendment reducing from $150 to $75 per child the proposed clothing allowance for Aid to Families with Dependent Children recipients. Amendment supporters said the reduction will save $15 million and argued since there are no controls over the money, some families spend it on drugs and alcohol. Opponents said this is a mean spirited cut and argued $150 is a tiny amount to provide a basic need for poor kids. Amorello voted for $150.

MBTA (H 5700) - Senate 22-16, rejected an amendment raising MBTA subway fares from 85 cents to one dollar and bus fares from 60 cents to 90 cents. Amendment supporters said state funding of the T is excessive and argued these modest hikes will properly put more of a burden on riders rather than other taxpayers who don't use the T. Opponents said a hike should not be imposed without a public hearing. Amorello voted for the hikes.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT (H 5700) - Senate 22-16, approved an amendment striking the sections abolishing county government and providing for state takeover of its functions by July 1994 except in Barnstable, Dukes, Franklin and Hampshire. The sections also allow a majority vote of the communities in a county to retain their county government. Amendment supporters said county government still performs valuable functions which should continue at the local level and not be assumed by the state. Opponents said county government is an archaic and inefficient system full of waste and patronage. Amorello voted for abolishing county government.

REDISTRICTING (H 5889) House 94-57, Senate 20-17, approved and sent to Governor Weld a Democratic drafted Congressional redistricting plan to comply with the mandated reduction from 11 to 10 seats. The plan pits incumbent Congressman Chet Atkins and Joe Early against each other in a new district. Supporters said quick action is necessary to okay this fair plan and warned that delays will result in having the courts decide the districts. Opponents objected to many provisions, including the lack of a Merrimack Valley district or a minority district. Amorello, Moore and Kollios voted against the plan.

REPUBLICAN PLAN (H 5889) - House 104-46, Senate 26-11, rejected a Republican sponsored redistricting plan. Supporters said this is a fairer plan which creates a Merrimack Valley district and also creates a district with a 45% minority population. Opponents objected to many provisions and claimed this version is unfair to Western Massachusetts. Amorello voted against the plan. Moore and Kollios voted for the plan.

RACING (S 1647) House 142-0 approved a conference committee version of a 38 page bill legalizing simulcasting at the state's racetracks and allowing people to go to the track and place bets on televised horse and dog racing being held at other tracks. Supporters said the bill will help the racing industry and raise revenue for the state. The Senate passed the bill on a voice vote and sent it to the Governor. Moore and Kollios voted for the bill.

MOUNTAINOUS KARABAGH (H 5917) House 129-3, approved resolutions urging Congress to recognize and help assure the survival of the newly formed Republic of Mountainous Karabagh. Supporters said the Armenian people have fought for their rights through years of oppression and deserve the legislature's support. Opponents and several legislators who voted "present" said this is a national issue which should be dealt with by the U.S. Senate and House. They argued the state legislature should try solving the state's problems. Moore and Kollios voted for the resolutions.

TAX HIKE (H 5909) - House 113-37, approved a bill calling back the recent hike in unemployment insurance taxes paid by employers. Bill supporters said this increases the average 1992 payment per employee by 30% from $280 to $362 instead of 63% from $280 to $457. They noted the measure also hikes the tax in future years and claimed it is necessary to bail out the state's unemployment trust fund which has a $500 million deficit. Opponents said this is simply a tax hike which will hurt businesses and cause layoffs. They urged cuts in benefits and additional tightening of eligibility and argued the fund will return to solvency when the economy and unemployment improve. Moore and Kollios voted for the scaled back hike.

COLLECTION PERIOD (H 5909) - House 115-34, rejected an amendment reducing from 30 to 26 the number of weeks a person can collect unemployment benefits. Amendment supporters argued that only one other state allows 30 weeks and claimed this will save $69 million annually. Opponents said the additional month is important to people who depend on these benefits. Moore and Kollios voted for 30 weeks.

MORE TAX HIKE (H 5909) Senate 32-4, approved a bill eliminating the recent hike in the tax paid by employers in 1992 but imposing hikes beginning in 1993. Supporters said this version, along with eligibility and benefits tightening, will allow businesses to plan in advance and will make the fund solvent by 1996. Opponents said the bill simply postpones the hikes and will result in businesses paying more interest and surcharges to help bail out the state's unemployment fund. The House and Senate have passed different versions of the bill and unless the House approves the Senate version, the bills will go to a conference committee to work out a compromise. Amorello voted for the bill.

EPA Issues Notice of Violation to Upper Blackstone Water Pollution Abatement District

BOSTON - The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has issued the Upper Blackstone Water Pollution Abatement District (UBWPD) of Millbury a notice of violation and order to comply with the Clean Air Act.

EPA cited UBWPD for violating the New Source Performance Standards (NSPS) that require owners and/or operators of sewage sludge treatment incinerators to comply with particulate emission limits.

The facility was also cited for violating the reporting requirement. EPA is requiring the UBWPD to submit its semi-annual reports to EPA, as required under the NSPS.

Emissions from sewage sludge incinerators constitute a major source of particulate emissions. Particulate matter has the potential to harm the human respiratory tract, and can cause damage to metals, coated and painted surfaces, and building materials.

Marylou Drapeau with Elmwood Street School students Keith Lenahan and John Mazeik at the new computer.

The computer equipment, which cost $2175.30, is a gift from Fidelity as part of its program to assist school systems in communities in which they have branches. According to Mary Leary, vice president of Fidelity, the bank is committed to improving education and helping schools to purchase materials or equipment for instructional programs. She explained that some schools have chosen to purchase library materials while Millbury chose to add a computer in the elementary school.

Drapeau said she contacted Superintendent Alfred Sylvia on behalf of the bank. "He put together a proposal for a computer for the elementary school," she said, "and the bank is pleased to make this contribution particularly knowing that the elementary school would not have had the benefit of a computer of this type without our help."

Clawson then maintained that there has to be a majority vote of the full five member committee for the transfers.

Bourdeau disagreed, saying there was a three member majority present.

Clawson said the Worcester City Council requires a majority of the total number of people on the council for a transfer.

Marble said he was unsure of the requirement under Roberts' Rules and suggested that the vote be reconsidered to be sure.

Clawson asked that an opinion be sought on the issue of whether the 2-1 vote meets the requirement for a majority.

Tuttle said she would be willing to reconsider her vote after listening to Dr. Palermo, but stressed that she could not change her vote knowing that this situation would happen again and again. "I hear what you said," she told Palermo. "I have the students foremost in my mind, and secondly the taxpayers. Would abstaining change the vote?" she asked.

Marble replied, "No. We need three votes." He also told Tuttle that her point was well taken.

"I want to go on record that we have to take a long hard look at the budget or I will not vote again like this," Tuttle said.

The Committee again went through the transfers with each transfer receiving approval of the three members in attendance.

Another Point of View

LIVING.....OR JUST EXISTING?

By Lawrence Moore

As the elder population increases, and as the ability of younger families to cope with their own problems decreases, the elderly are being forced to become more self-reliant. Many are fortunately healthy and financially able to lead active and fulfilling lives. These lucky seniors eat out, drive, go shopping, go to the doctor, travel, and in truth continue to live much as before, albeit at a reduced rate and a slower pace.

But what of those who are less fortunate, who have less money, less mobility, and less social activity; those without nearby family or friends; those who for one reason or another are home-bound? Are they doomed to a solitary uneventful existence?

During the past several decades, an elder service network has developed which, at little or no cost, makes it possible for every senior to live a fuller, more rewarding, more interesting, and certainly a more healthful life. There are meals available, either at home or at a meal-site, there is transportation to senior centers, shopping and doctors, there are health and social services on call, there are trips of varying length and cost, there are homemaker services, special help for the hearing and sight impaired, assistance for the handicapped...in short, there is absolutely no reason for an elder to feel alone, neglected, and hopeless.

What is strange is that, for the most part, those who need these services least use them the most. And many of those who, sometimes desperately, could benefit from social contact, do not avail themselves of these opportunities, and in some cases, flatly refuse to join others and enjoy a fuller life.

It is a fact that only a small percentage of our seniors participate in the network programs. It is true that the lucky ones live full and happy lives independently. It is also true that many elders could live better, longer and healthier if they embraced what is available. Some refuse to attend meal sites because they "don't know anybody there." The sight and hearing impaired refuse to acknowledge their losses. Others sit at home, sometimes for days on end, eating poorly, seeing no other living soul, and refusing and resisting the outreach efforts of community workers and volunteers. For every paid worker in the system, there are hundreds of volunteers, mostly elderly, who have chosen to fulfill their own lives by helping others.

In spite of all the effort, shamefully but self-induced, many elders do not live up to their individual potential. They live dull, empty, unhappy lives. With the help of seniors like themselves, they should make the choice to live, not just to exist.

International Champions

SUTTON - The Fuller Hamlets U-14 girls' NCCL team won its first international championship recently on the outskirts of Montreal, Canada by besting 11 other American and Canadian contenders to take first place in the Laval Cup.

The Hamlets first beat Repentigny, Quebec 5-0. Scoring was well-distributed, with Kim Kistner, Cindy Garceau of Upton, Nicole White of Auburn, Emma Kurowski of Sutton and Kristen Gondek of Oxford tallying.

Host team Fabrose from Laval, Quebec was the next opponent. Kurowski scored twice and Gondek once for the 3-0 victory.

Game three against Deux Montagnes, Quebec resulted in a 6-0 outcome for the locals. Scorers were Marta Nagy and Danielle Gravison of Sutton, Amy Ostrowski of Webster, Andrea Krauss, Danielle McCaffrey of Oxford and Tracey Briggs of Upton.

The semi-finals saw a tough struggle against a strong and physical team from Longueuil, Quebec. Here, defense was key and continued strong play from Molly Ahern and Sarah Ganas, backed by the shut-out goal tending of Stacey Malo of Upton sent the 0-0 game into a penalty-kick shoot-out. The Fuller Hamlets prevailed 4-3 with Kurowski, Gondek, Kistner and McCaffrey connecting and Malo stopping Longueuil's final shot.

The finals pitted the Hamlets against Napeans, Ontario and the locals won 4-0 with Briggs, Kurowski, Gondek and Lindsay Peplar providing the scores. Coach Gondek noted that "a number of the tournament referees complimented the team on its controlled and disciplined play and accurate passing, remarkably different from the Canadian style of long ball, physically aggressive play."

A Song For Mind

By Everett Swenson

'Tis but a song that helps defray
A tired mind with music's sound
In helping of the mind's repose
A song where tranquil notes abound.

While listening to the gentle tones
So captured by the waiting ear
Relaxing of the mind once more
And purify the mind to hear.

The gentle humming of the notes
So penetrate the mind's content
To satisfy one's subtle want
As pleasant music's tone is lent.

Ah! Yes-The mind must have its want
To propagate in bodies fold
And to make life bearer still as with our bodies it grows old.

THIS IS HOW A DESPERATE DRUG ADDICT SEES YOUR CHILD.

He doesn't see the energetic, young mind that's underneath the cassette recorder. He doesn't see the much-loved kid on the block that's inside the leather jacket. All he sees is the cassette recorder, and the jacket, and how to get the money for his next fix.

But the drug addict's real blindness is that he'll never see the heartbreak he will cause when he leaves your child lying on the street.

You must fight back. You can make a difference. Start now by calling 1-800-WE PREVENT and we'll send you information on successful ways to join with others to protect your children from crime in your neighborhood.

On Wednesday, June 10, the Millbury Public Library Endowment Steering Committee handed over its reigns to the 13 individuals who will make up the Board of the Millbury Public Library Endowment fund. On July 15, at 6:30, this advisory board will hold its first official board meeting.

What is the fund? It is part of the library's long range plan to help ensure its ability to grow to meet the library and information needs of the Millbury community into the 21st century.

The purpose of the fund is to develop, enhance and supplement the library's collections, services and facility. For example, the endowment fund could provide for important but costly reference books that would serve to enhance or supplement the library's existing collection, or the Fund could contribute towards future building projects. It is important to note that the Fund can not be used to supplant revenues normally provided by town funding authorities.

The Fund was established in December with a $1,500 donation from the Friends of the Library. The Fund is invested and managed by the Greater Worcester Community Foundation.

In addition to exploring investment vehicles and establishing the Endowment fund, the steering committee put in many hours creating and fine tuning the bylaws that establish the board of the MPL Organization Fund. With that work behind them, the committee moved on to recruiting individuals to serve as corporators of the board.

The purposes of this new organization, the Fund's Board, are to: determine appropriate expenditures of income; monitor the investment and management of the fund by the Greater Worcester Community Foundation; encourage planned giving and outright donations; and recruit corporators to continue the Board's efforts. The first time members serving as corporators will be breaking new ground in establishing how the Board handles these responsibilities and working toward firmly establishing a viable, working board.

Who makes up the Board of the MPL Fund Organizations? People like me and you. They are people that come from varied backgrounds with a wide range of knowledge, skills and abilities. Together they share a common concern for the library and a willingness to contribute their time, energy and expertise to expand and preserve access to information and library services in Millbury.

LIBRARY HOURS: Tuesday-Thursday, 10-8; Friday, 10-6; Saturday, 10-1. Telephone, 865-1181.

From My Window
on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

Unemployment figures are up again. They range from 8.8% to almost 15%. During the Depression of the 1930's, they were up to 25%. By the way, the difference between "Recession" and "Depression" is: "recession" is when you are out of work; "depression" is when I am out of work.

Who comes up with these figures and how and why do they? During this election year they are very suspect in my book. They either make our government, and in particular the President, look good or bad. What part does the government have to do with unemployment anyway? During the 1930's Depression we had the CCC and the WPA which were great programs and did a lot of good things, but they also started us on the road to government by borrowing money which now leaves us trillions of dollars in debt. Then World War II solved the problem completely. Funny how we can always afford a war, but peace comes at a very high price. Right now, military cut-backs are responsible for part of our problem.

After our Morning Worship Service, I spoke to a young lady who just graduated from high school and asked her if she had found a job this summer. She said that she had and I assured her that I knew she would not just sit around all summer. Unemployment has become a way of life for many people, and our system often makes it more profitable to be unemployed than to seek another job. To be unemployed is not only a matter of financial difficulty, but also of self-worth and identity. There are several programs that are dealing with this problem, and our hopes and prayers are with those who are earnestly seeking a job. Amen.
